

HOMELESS NOT HOPELESS

Homelessness is epidemic in the Bay Area. Imagine that you have a job but don't make enough to pay the rent. Money is tight, food is scarce, and you are discouraged. What can we do as a compassionate community to help the most vulnerable rebuild their lives and regain self-sufficiency?

Trinity Center is the first program of its kind in Walnut Creek, CA, a public/private/faith community partnership bringing together affordable housing plus the social services and resources needed to raise individuals and families out of poverty, homelessness and hopelessness to a life of dignity, safety and opportunity.

Trinity Center is a non-profit that understands these situations and has created a welcoming, supportive and inclusive place for homeless residents to seek an array of services to regain or begin their road to self-sufficiency and housing.
